Cal Poly is Ranked Best In the West for 23rd Consecutive Year

Cal Poly has kept its streak alive for 23 years as best public-master's university in the West, according to the latest edition of the U.S. News and World Report's America's Best Colleges guidebook. Cal Poly tied for 10th in the magazine's overall list of the West's best universities. The engineering program was again ranked the seventh-best master's and bachelor's program in the nation and the U.S.'s top state-funded institution. In addition, the civil engineering and mechanical engineering programs were ranked third in the nation — and the best state-funded programs in the country. For the first time, Orfalea College of Business made the list of best undergraduate business programs, and Cal Poly was ranked 10th best veteran-friendly institution among Western universities. For more details, visit the Cal Poly News website.

Updated University Master Plan Concept Map Reflects Key Revisions

Cal Poly released an updated campus concept map and announced several key decisions as part of the ongoing process of updating its master plan, an initiative that began last fall. The plan details locations, sizes and types of facilities, and land-uses needed to support the university's Learn by Doing mission. The revised concept map is based on extensive input from the campus and community on conceptual plans first unveiled in April. The new proposal presents refined ideas and concepts under consideration — but does not yet indicate a specific proposed master plan. For more details on the master plan update process or to comment on the ongoing update, visit the Master Plan website.

Grand Avenue Parking Lots Close as Housing South Project Begins

Cal Poly has permanently closed the two large surface parking lots (G-1/R-2) at the campus' Grand Avenue entrance to make way for construction of the new Student Housing South complex. Spaces in the top two levels of the Grand Avenue parking structure have been reassigned for staff and faculty. Parking Services can help everyone find the parking resources to fit their needs. For more information about campus parking and alternative transportation, students, employees and campus visitors are urged to visit the Parking Services website at <https://afd.calpoly.edu/parking/> or contact Parking Services at ext. 6-7455 or email at parking@calpoly.edu.
